THE EDGE OF DARKNESS

by

Brian CLEMENS

Having been found in a hospital by her parents, Max and Laura, after her disappearance three years before, Emma's homecoming should be one of joy.

However, it is obvious that there is something not quite right.

Emma's memory has been damaged - she remembers little of her life before the hospital and her behaviour becomes disturbing. Why does she know certain Russian phrases and react so strongly to knives, a simple bell and a portrait on the wall?

What lies behind the odd behaviour of the new manservant? As events unfold, Emma becomes the centre of a menacing mystery, which finally erupts into terror.

In this exciting, mysterious play, written by the master of TV adventure series, the late Brian Clemens, you will be kept guessing until the very end.

Tickets can be obtained in several ways, priced at £8 and £7 (concessions):

online: www.llamadrama.org.uk (NO booking fee)

telephone Carole Ransom on 01354 694782 to reserve tickets
